Fossil Finders: Mesozoic Mission

Best friends Samuel and Anna are on an excursion to the Science Museum to see real dinosaur fossils. For the two dinosaur lovers, this seems exciting enough. Little do they know that real adventure is about to follow...

A magical collision in time awakens Norus, guardian of the exhibits. He needs Samuel and Anna’s help to go back in time to retrieve an ammonite and an allosaurus tooth. Are they up for the challenge, even if it means putting their own lives at risk?

Mesozoic Mission is a pacy narrative accompanied by factoids.

Fossil Finders: Cretaceous Crisis

Samuel and Anna are sent back to the Cretaceous on a seemingly easy mission to simply observe dinosaurs, disturb nothing and return safely. But back in the Science Museum, a theft has left Norus’ power waning; he can no longer bring them back!

Stuck in the Cretaceous era – with a ferocious herd of Triceratops, a vicious T-rex and other dinosaurs – Samuel and Anna face their biggest test yet.

About Andy

Andy has been collecting fossils since he was 20, and now owns over 400 unique specimens. As a member of the Singapore Fossil Collector, a local palaeontology society, Andy has met various palaeontologists and fossil-experts, and is a guest speaker on prehistoric life in schools, libraries and museums.

Fossil Finders is his first children’s book series. He is also a 3D Artist in a company that provides training and engineering solutions around the world.
